MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCES

Attended by Affiliated Organizations Veterans of Three Wars Pay Loving Tribute to Their Dead. Union Service at South Church Sunday.

"These things therefore the Soldiers did," was the text chosen by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow for the sermon preached at the South church, Sunday morning, before members of Gen. William F. Bartlett post 99, G. A. R., Walter L. Raymond Camp 111, Sons of Veterans, Gen. William F. Bartlett Relief corps and Andover Post, American Legion and its Woman's auxiliary and those who joined with them in honoring the men who have served their country in time of war.

Five members of Gen. William F. Bartlett post were present including Commander George W. Chandler, Henry Chukey, John Cummings, color bearer, Judge Charles U. Bell and J. H. Steward.

The church was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers for the service, and special music was provided, including the sounding of taps on the cornet while the choir sang "Soldier, Rest! Thy Warfare's O'er" during the offertory.

"It is my privilege this morning," said Mr. Bigelow in opening his sermon, "to speak upon the theme of 'The Soldier and His Service.' It is always especially appropriate to pay tribute to the memory of those soldiers who cannot be with us because God has taken them from us.

"The soldiers are subject of much devotion in the estimation of the people. They are the subject of the mightiest praise and the greatest commendation. They are looked upon both as exponents of extreme cruelty and as the bravest of defenders."

Rev. Mr. Bigelow then described in detail what the soldiers did at the crucifixion of Christ, how they placed the crown of thorns upon His head, nailed Him to the cross, pierced His body with a spear and then divided His clothing among them at His feet, finally drawing lots as to who should have a garment that would be spoiled if torn asunder. He laid emphasis on the word "therefore" in the Biblical wording: "Therefore, these things, therefore, the soldiers did," pointing out that it was not only the fulfillment of a prophecy that He should be crucified but also carrying out of a command.

Fifty Cases of Whiskey End Thrilling Journey When Federal Officers Capture Truck-load in Shawheen

Imported liquor valued at several thousand dollars was seized last night at ten o'clock as it passed through Andover en route from Boston to Lawrence.

Federal officers, Gordon C. McMaster, Joseph F. Percall and Edward Bogan who had trailed the truck from Boston, picked up Officers Saunders and Walker in Andover and overhauled the valuable load just before it entered Shawheen Village.

Officers Saunders, at the point of a gun, brought the Reo truck to a standstill and placed the driver, Cicero Morrow of Commerce street, Boston, under arrest and turned over the entire outfit to the federal officers who returned to Boston with their prize. According to the police, the driver of the truck said that the liquor was to be met by touring cars near the Cold Spring brewery.

John E. Walsh of 1126 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, driving a Buick roadster, who was apparently accompanying the load of whiskey, was also placed under arrest but was released because of lack of evidence.

Mrs. Tubbs Helps West Church Vestry Fund

"Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown" was successfully presented last evening in Grange hall before a crowded house.

Mrs. Hubert Mayo, as Mrs. Tubbs was surnamed, personified Edward Burtt, as Mr. Ruggles was the grasping mean landlord whose promises could always be taken in two ways.

Clingy Vine was true to type and the children of the Hickey and Tubbs families were natural everyday children. The school teachers and census-taker furnished an interesting episode which ended happily.

Mrs. Hickey played by Mrs. Herbert Carter was the character without which a country neighborhood is never complete, the one interested in everyone's affairs and anxious to spread her information be it good or bad.

The corner grocery was liberally patronized as were the candy and ice-cream tables.

The play will be repeated this evening and the advance sale of tickets assures a full house.

Kindergarten Notice

Those wishing to enter pupils in Miss Johnson's kindergarten for next year are asked to do so at this time if possible. Address, 20 Salem street, or telephone 375.

A petition to authorize the Board of Public Works to borrow $150,000 outside the statutory limit of indebtedness by bond issue or otherwise for the purpose of constructing a pipe-line from Andover through Lawrence to the Merrimack river or for the construction of any other system of sewage disposal approved by the State Board of Health will be presented to the legislature of 1923 as a result of action taken after prolonged discussion by the voters assembled at the special town meeting held in the town hall last Monday evening. The petition will be accompanied by a definite plan prepared by an expert sanitary engineer to be employed by the local Board of Public Works who is to make a careful and exhaustive study of the entire situation. An appropriation of $5,000 was made to cover the cost of the preliminary study and plan.

Other business transacted at the meeting included authorization of the $40,000 bond issue for extension of water mains, the appropriation of $1000 for the brush fire department, permission to discontinue that portion of Chapel avenue east of Bartlett street, and an appropriation of $600 to cover the expense of additional street lighting made necessary by the placing of wires underground on Main street, for a period extending from September 1 to December 31.

In accordance with preliminary action taken at the regular March meeting and with the approval of the legislature, it was voted under article one to issue bonds or notes of the town in the aggregate amount of $40,000 for the purpose of repaying and extending water mains and improving water distribution facilities. Replying to inquiries by Michael M. Dwyer and Henry A. Bodwell, Chairman Rhodes stated that the board of public works was ready to begin the work of relaying water pipe on Lowell street at once, and that the appropriation was approximately adequate for that work, although any surplus might profitably be applied to the purchase of another unit at the pumping station.

These bonds for repair work are issued for ten years, rather than for twenty years as are bonds for new construction. The motion for the issuing of the bonds was carried unanimously, 86 persons voting.

Upon the motion of John N. Cole it was voted to authorize and instruct the Board of Public Works to use the proceeds from the sale of bonds for such changes as it deems necessary.

Discussion of Article two concerning the $150,000 bond issue for sewage disposal which occupied more than an hour, was opened by Mr. Rhodes who moved that the article be adopted. He said that as a satisfactory report had not been received from the State Board of Health at the time of the March meeting the article then is

May Procession Held Sunday

The beautiful pageant of the annual May procession held Sunday afternoon by the children of St. Augustine's and St. Joseph's churches was witnessed by a throng of people of all denominations. The hundreds of little children with their white dresses, and the brilliant and varied colors of the insignia and banners made a gorgeous spectacle. Ideal weather contributed to the success of the occasion.

The children assembled at the parochial school and headed by Millington's band, the procession proceeded up Chestnut street to Main street, to Elm square, where it counter-marched to Essex street and St. Augustine's church.

The sermon was preached by Rev. John A. Nugent, O. S. A., pastor of the church, and the benediction was by Very Rev. Charles M. Driscoll, D. D., O. S. A., assistant pastor of St. Augustine's. He also spoke a few words and alluded to the happy days he

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

In view of the circumstances and of the provisions of Chapter 139 of the Acts of the Year 1876 relative to the prevention of nuisance in the Merrimack River, the Department advises the town of Andover that the discharge of raw sewage into the Merrimack River is not likely to be a permanent method of disposal of its sewage. It will be necessary eventually, and in all probability at no distant time, to treat this sewage for the removal of objectionable matters therefrom, and that being the case it appears to the Department advisable, and the Department so recommends, that the town proceed at once to cause a thorough investigation to be made of a suitable means of treatment, while the opinion of the finance committee was only a snap judgment, and he urged that the voters endorse a plan which would help to make Andover's Main street the best in the Commonwealth. Mr. Angus' amendment to have the street lighting plan reconsidered was lost and the original motion with its appropriation of $600 was carried.

Mr. Burns then asked for authority from the voters for the lighting committee to sign a five-year contract with the Gas company arguing that by the appropriation of the $600 they had given their sanction to the terms and provisions arranged by the lighting committee. Moderator Alfred L. Ripley ruled that such action would be out of order as no mention of electric lighting contracts was made in the warrant and furthermore as only 86 voters out of an electorate of 3300 had taken active part at any time in the meeting, a number which at that hour had dwindled to hardly fifty. Mr. Cole upheld the moderator in his ruling, saying that while he approved the system planned he thought that if the town was to take the gas company on faith it was a pity if the gas company couldn't also take the town of Andover on faith. The matter was compromised by a motion that it was the sense of the meeting that the proposed system was approved.

Respectfully,
EUGENE R. KELEY
Commissioner of Public Health.

At the request of Mr. Cole the letter from William M. Wood relative to the offer of payment of $50,000 towards the project was read.

The letter:

To the Board of Selectmen
Town of Andover,
Andover, Massachusetts
Attention: Chairman of Board of Public Works, Gentlemen:

I am gratified to learn that the State Board of Health has granted the Town of Andover permission to abolish the present sewer filter beds in Shawheen Village and build a sewer from Andover through the city of Lawrence and discharge the town's sewage directly into the Merrimack river. The problem of disposing of the sewage of the town of Andover in connection with Shawheen Village is a very important one and I feel that this solution of the matter will prove satisfactory to all concerned.

At a meeting of the directors of the Shawheen mills held recently, the sewer matter was brought up and it was voted by the directors that if the Town of Andover would build this new sewer to the Merrimack river large enough to take care of the waste from the mills in Shawheen Village in addition to town sewage, the company would contribute a sum not to exceed $50,000 towards the project.

Trusting that this will meet with your approval, I am
Yours respectfully,
Wm. M. Wood.

E. V. French was of the opinion that if the sewage was properly treated it might be discharged into the Shawheen without the expense of the pipe line to Lawrence and that the expert engineer to be employed should not be restricted in his investigation. He therefore asked that the motion before the house be modified so that the funds might be used "for constructing any other system of sewage disposal recommended by the State Board of Health." When this amendment was put to vote the result was questioned and it was necessary to call for a rising vote. The amendment was adopted and the motion carried, framed as follows: Voted, that the town petition the legislature of 1923 for authority to borrow $150,000 outside the statutory limit of indebtedness, for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a pipe line in accordance with plans approved by the State Board of Health, for the purpose of disposing of the sewage of the town of Andover, through Lawrence to the Merrimack, or for the construction of any other system of sewage disposal approved by the State Board of Health and for any other legislation that may be necessary to carry out the plans. Mr. Cole warned that if the town presented such a petition to the legislature of the Commonwealth and that body would make any alterations and provisions which it deemed advisable, but that the voters of Andover would not be definitely committed to any plan until the matter was again brought before them at some subsequent meeting.

Upon the motion of Judge Charles U. Bell $5,000 was voted to defray the expense of an expert engineer and the preparing of definite plans. This scheme is with the approval of the finance committee. As no one was present who desired to speak for the appropriation called for in Article four for the purpose of extending the water main on Corbett street, the matter was referred to the Board of Public Works, no appropriation being made. Selectman Walter S. Donald moved that $1000 be appropriated for the brush fire department as called for in Article 4 and that the money be raised by tax. He said that $600 had been appropriated and that the cost of fighting brush fires had already been $1400. Frank McBride inquired why funds already appropriated for the fire department and not required as they were last year for wire replacement and repairs could not be used to defray the expense of brush fires. It was said that this transfer of funds appropriated for another purpose was not possible and it was voted to raise $1000 by taxation. Dr. Alfred E. Stearns presented a motion for discontinuing that portion of Chapel avenue east of Bartlet street made necessary by developments on the campus of Phillips academy and the motion was carried.

Walter H. Coleman, chairman of the Street Lighting committee, was the first speaker on Article 6 calling for an appropriation of $1800 to cover the expense of additional street lighting made necessary by the placing of wires underground on Main Street from the Over Square to Chapel avenue. The chairman of the committee announced that the motion for the warrant was hurriedly prepared on very short notice and that upon further consideration it had been found that the sum of $600 would suffice for the period from September to December 31. It would be better to refer to reason to tear up the new roadway which should last at least fifteen years a far-seeing plan, suitable for lighting that portion of Main street from Chestnut street to Chapel avenue had been carefully thought out. This provides for 36 lights of 250 candle power placed alternately on the east and west sides of the streets, the standards on either side of the street to be 300 feet apart.

John C. Angus, as chairman of the finance committee, protested at the plan favored by the lighting committee which increased the annual cost of lighting Main street from $900 to $2700 and moved that the matter be reinvestigated as the expense of maintenance was entirely unwarranted.

In reply Joseph L. Burns said that the lighting committee had already given the matter its most careful consideration, that the proposed new system would not make a great white way but a well lighted Main street which would with later improvements north of Elm Square give the main thoroughfare including Shawheen village a uniform system of lighting. The $75 a year necessary to maintain each of the new lights would give the Lawrence Gas company only a fair return on the $30,000 which it is about to lay out to place its wires underground.

Fred G. Cheney said that the lighting committee had given the matter careful consideration while the opinion of the finance committee was only a snap judgment, and he urged that the voters endorse a plan which would help to make Andover's Main street the best in the Commonwealth. Mr. Angus' amendment to have the street lighting plan reconsidered was lost and the original motion with its appropriation of $600 was carried.

Mr. Burns then asked for authority from the voters for the lighting committee to sign a five-year contract with the Gas company arguing that by the appropriation of the $600 they had given their sanction to the terms and provisions arranged by the lighting committee. Moderator Alfred L. Ripley ruled that such action would be out of order as no mention of electric lighting contracts was made in the warrant and furthermore as only 86 voters out of an electorate of 3300 had taken active part at any time in the meeting, a number which at that hour had dwindled to hardly fifty. Mr. Cole upheld the moderator in his ruling, saying that while he approved the system planned he thought that if the town was to take the gas company on faith it was a pity if the gas company couldn't also take the town of Andover on faith. The matter was compromised by a motion that it was the sense of the meeting that the proposed system was approved.

Under other business that might legally come before the meeting Mr. Cole brought up the question of removing the wires belonging to the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company from Main Street. While the company is exempt by law from putting its wires underground, Mr. Cole thought that some method of running them in an inconspicuous place might be found. It was voted that the Selectmen, finance committee, and representatives of the railway confer on the matter and that any unexpended sum of money in the miscellaneous funds of the town of Andover be available for this purpose.

The meeting was adjourned at 10.15.

Lion was Lonely

One of the big features with the Walter L. Main circus this season is the appearance of Capt. Wilson's trained Nubian lions. It was while the lions were being broken in new this winter, that Capt. Wilson unexpectedly came upon his big feature stunt. A vaudeville engagement took two of the lions to the Keith Circuit, leaving "Duke," the monster of them all, at the quarters, the solitary occupant of a big steel arena. Although there were other animals at the quarters that he had in with him in his walls of loneliness, none of them, of course was allowed to keep him company, although "twas said "Duke" was a companionable lion. One afternoon, attracted by the smell of the raw meat, fed daily to the animals about four o'clock, a little mongrel dog, himself lonesome and discouraged, slunk into the quarters and gazed wistfully at the meat "Duke" was devouring.

There was room between the runway and the arena to allow him to squeeze through, and finally, desperate with hunger, the little tramp, willing, no doubt, to sacrifice his life for one more square meal, braved the lion in his den and attempted to take the meat away from the Nubian. To the surprise of everybody, "Duke" seemed to welcome the intrusion. He not only let the little stranger eat his fill, but pinning him down with one of his great paws, licked his face, as much as to say: "Welcome, stranger, we're going to be great pals." As Capt. Wilson was away, and no one dared to enter the arena during his absence, the dog stayed on, and he and "Duke" became truly pals. On the Captain's return, it was attempted to remove the dog, but "Duke" made such strenuous objection that the idea popped into the trainer's head of making an act out of it, and now every day "Duke" and his partner eat a meal together in the presence of thousands.

Contributions for Forl Settlers
Will be Received by Local Red Cross

This communication from Mr. Rotch, Manager of the New England Division, has just been received in Andover.

TO All Chapters:

Floods in valleys of the Illinois, Ohio and Mississippi Rivers have caused death, great loss of property and thousands of families to be without shelter, food or proper clothing. Thirty-one thousand homeless are being fed by the Red Cross in the State of Mississippi alone. The Red Cross has quickly organized relief work with the help of local Committees at many places. Illinois and on the Mississippi River, south of St. Louis, particularly in the States of Arkansas, Mississippi, and Louisiana. The first needs have been met by National Headquarters appropriation of approximately $100,000. There is great work to be done until the stricken people who have lost their all can be re-established in home life. There should be generous assistance for these struggling communities and the health and comfort of destitute men, women, and children should have every possible attention. At least $500,000 will be required. The National Organization of the American Red Cross, through the State and local Committees which it has organized, has been given the responsibility for the relief work. 127,249 FORDS SOLD in APRIL

Ford Retail Sales Hit New High Mark

According to a report just received from the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, a daily average of 5,210 retail sales of Ford cars and trucks had been reached by the close of April in the United States alone.

Ford sales of cars and trucks for the month, including both domestic and foreign, totaled 127,249. This establishes a new high record, exceeding the largest previous month, June, 1931, by 14,487.

The sale of Fordson tractors has also been steadily climbing. A total of 11,161 Fordsons were sold during April in the United States, a daily average of 409 having been reached by the end of the month. This gives the tractor a new high sales record, and shows 100% increase over the best month in 1931.

The Ford Company is enjoying a banner year in all departments. Output of Ford cars and trucks for the year, according to present estimates, will exceed 1,000,000 which represents a ten per cent increase over 1931.

The Ford factory at Detroit is now operating at full capacity, having a force of more than 40,000 men on the payroll. The scheduled output for May will probably reach 135,000 cars and trucks, which will be applied against orders approximating 165,000.

Despite the attempt of the factory and the twenty-three assembling plants in the United States to produce a sufficient number of cars to meet the unusual demand, it has been impossible for Ford dealers in most cases to make immediate deliveries.

Charles Chaplin Will Be Seen in "Pay Day"

Charles Chaplin's latest comedy release, "Pay Day," which is being distributed as a First National attraction, opens a run at the Colonial Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. Advances indicate that this vehicle will rank among the best productions the star comedian has ever offered.

Edna Purviance, the star's brother Sydney, who not so long ago blossomed out as a star himself; Mack Swain, who was with Chaplin in "The Idle Class"; Phyllis Allen, Henry Bergman, Loyal Underwood, John Rand and Allen Garcia aid the star's efforts.

Chaplin has transported himself to an atmosphere of toil and homely-handed laborers for novelty situations and new stunts centering around the arrival of the weekly pay envelope. He receives his money promptly and it returns home to sing alto to the wife's "O Promise Me," finally plunging into the frigid liquid of a well-filled bathtub to escape her.

In addition to starring in the picture, Chaplin holds the dual role of director and author, for "Pay Day" is an original story by him which he directed.

An Appreciation

EDITH DUNNELLS GIFFIN

In the Townsman of May 26, a brief notice of the death of Edith Dunnel Giffin appeared.

One cannot read the notice and know her life without a sense of incompleteness. Born in Andover twenty-six years ago. Educated in the schools of Andover. An earnest Christian and active worker in the church. Happily married to an equally earnest Christian man. To go out from a home in which she desired to live a life, "facing toward Jesus Christ," it seemed to all of us who loved her that this was just the beginning of a life that promised a beautiful unfolding of strong, Christian womanhood.

The more we think of what she was the better we love her. She was growing sweeter, truer, stronger and more gracious with each new experience.

We long to see the perfect fruitage of such a flower, and yet from the very incompleteness there springs the richest element of the whole, a hope of fulfillment.

The meaning of such a life is beautifully expressed in the conception of the musical composition known as the "Lost Chord." This chord, wonderful as it was, was incomplete and lost, only in heaven would its full beauty in relation to heaven's completeness be recovered. The lost chord seizes the spirit and leads it on to a hope and faith which uplifts and ennobles life as well as comforts and consoles.

This is the meaning of such a life as Edith Dunnel Giffin's. A "Lost Chord" of life harmonies to be found and woven together in heaven's great symphony, no longer incomplete but perfect and satisfying.

Autos Crash at Bridge

The crashing of two autos at the Railroad bridge on North Main street, Sunday forenoon, probably saved the occupants of the car driven by Samuel Finestine of 42 Railroad road, Alston, from death on the tracks below.

Finestine was driving toward Lawrence, and when approaching the bridge his steering gear gave way and he struck the car of Joseph A. Desrosiers of 92 Colonial avenue, Lowell, driving it up on the sidewalk. The Finestine machine, which first missed a telegraph pole, was badly damaged and was towed to a garage. Desrosiers' auto was also smashed but fortunately no one was hurt.

Veteran of Civil War Reaches Eightieth Milestone

John H. Steward, a veteran of the Civil War observed his eightieth birthday last Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. Lincoln Cates of 45 Whittier street. During the day many friends and neighbors called to extend their good wishes and he was the recipient of money and other gifts as well as a shower of birthday cards.

Four generations were represented in the family gathering: Mr. Steward; his daughter, Mrs. Cates; her daughters, Helen, wife of Dr. Malcolm B. McTernan, and Miss Ruth Cates; and Mrs. McTernan's Ruth Frances McTernan and Malcolm Bodwell McTernan. Other great-grandchildren are Esther Boutwell Cates and June Steward Cates, daughters of Mrs. Cates' son Howard, and Alice Muriel Cates, daughter of Mrs. Cates' son Harold.

Mr. Steward was born of good old New England stock in St. Albans, Me., May 26, 1842, son of Randall Steward, a Keene, N. H. man and Olive Ireland Steward, who was a native of Bloomfield, Mr. Steward's father was born in 1799 and died in 1879 and his mother was born in 1800 and died in 1882. He was educated in the public schools of St. Albans and Hartland, Me., living with his parents on a farm till he was 18 when he went to Pittsfield where he was employed as a clerk for two years. When he was 20 years old he enlisted at Pittsfield, Me., in the 24th Maine regiment of infantry and leaving a wife and baby daughter at home, served through the campaign with Gen. Banks.

He contracted malarial fever in the service and was in poor health for some years after he was discharged. He lived on a farm till 1872 when he removed to East Cambridge where he was employed six years as clerk in a grocery store and 12 years in the John P. Squires branch market. From East Cambridge he went to Manchester, N. H., where for four years he was in the house painting business and for eight years a meat cutter in a market. A few years were spent on a farm at Londonderry, N. H., after which he removed to Chelmsford and nine years later to Lexington, where Mrs. Steward died in September, 1918. Since then Mr. Steward has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Cates. He has three daughters, Mrs. Mary O. Holmes of Andover, Mrs. A. Lincoln Cates of Andover and Mrs. H. C. Snow of Manchester, N. H., and two sons, George R. Steward of Manchester-by-the-sea and John M. Steward of Manchester, N. H., who is employed in the mechanical department of the Manchester Union. He has 19 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Steward is a member of Gen. William F. Bartlett Post 99, G. A. R., the 24th and 28th Maine regiments association and has been a member of the Baptist church since he was 18 years of age, joining the St. Albans, Me., church. He has now transferred his membership to the Baptist church in this town.

Mr. Steward is remarkably well for a man of his years and was able to go to Lisbon Falls, Me., last September to attend a reunion of his Regimental association, at which he renewed many friendships of long ago.

Andover Get Behind July Fourth Celebrations

Andover will have another big July Fourth celebration and the members of the Legion who are taking the initiative again ask that every citizen get behind and help make the celebration Independence Day as big a success as it was last year.

The committee, which has undertaken the work, met Wednesday night at Legion headquarters and outlined the program for the day as follows:

Midnight—July 3—Bonfire at Playstead.
July 4, 4 a.m.—Ring of Bells.
5.30 a.m.—Hillsides at the game and 9.30 a.m.—Sports on Playstead.
3 p.m.—Baseball game on Playstead.
8 p.m.—Band Concert at Park.

The sports will include running races for boys and girls, men and women of all ages and suitable prizes will be awarded. There will also be a five-a-side soccer contest and a tug-of-war competition. Entries for these events should be made with Timothy Madden in charge of athletics.

The baseball game will be between the Smith and Dove A. A., and the Andover Town team.

The Horribles parade at 5.30 a.m., will be the morning feature and cash prizes will be awarded. The committee particularly asks that entries be made early and also that all entries be made early and also that all entrants take part.

Frank Goodwin will have charge of the bonfire. He is a veteran at the game and has less a hand or had charge of every July Fourth bonfire built in the past forty years. Frank has no superior in building bonfires and he will be assisted by Jack Coyle. Citizens who have wood or other combustible material for the bonfire are asked to notify Frank P. Markey who will do the rest.

To celebrate in real fashion requires money and the committee is sure Andover will respond again. Subscriptions will be secured and properly credited solicitors are now canvassing the town. Give as liberally as possible and help the committee give Andover the best July Fourth celebration yet. The committee is Frank P. Markey, Frederic Hulme, Timothy Madden, Robert Stack, Robert Christie and James Fairweather. The latter will have charge of the canteen and refreshments.

A crowd of 1,000,000 persons with easy standing room would cover 70 acres.

Punchard Juniors Entertain Seniors

The annual reception tendered to members of the Senior class by the Juniors was held in Punchard hall last Friday evening.

Dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by Buckley's orchestra and during intermission there was a short entertainment in which Miss Virginia Ramsdell, Melvin Haynes, Thomas Stack and Malcolm Ruhl participated. Mock diplomas were presented members of the Senior class, containing not a statement of their scholastic achievements but rather reminders of what they had failed to achieve. The characters and follies of members of the faculty as well as those of the senior class were remembered in a sketch given by Thomas Stack and Malcolm Ruhl.

Refreshments were served by Misses Virginia Ramsdell, Margaret Kelly, Jimena Walker, Angeline McCarthy, Alice Neiligan and Irene Curtis. All of whom wore Japanese costumes.

The hall was attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns and streamers of blue and yellow. Those who had charge of the decorating were Miss Olive Mitchell, chairman; Miss Alice Case, John, Fredrickson, Walden Bassett and Selden Billington.

The matrons were Mrs. James A. Barnes, Mrs. Albert Ruhl, Mrs. John Fredrickson and Mrs. Clarence W. Coolidge. The members of the faculty and their wives who attended were Principal and Mrs. Nathan G. Hamblin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Holmes, Miss Hazel Underwood, Miss Lillian Fox, Miss Eliza V. Marshall and Carl Gahan.

Those present were Misses Ruth Biddle, Catherine Donovan, Olive Mitchell, Margaret May, Marjorie Pomeroy, Dorothy Wanamaker, Doris Coolidge, Anna Greeley, Alice Neiligan, Catherine Dolan, Dorothy Sullivan, Angeline McCarthy, Beatrice Buxton, Rose Deyou, Catherine Barrett, Marion Wilkinson, Alice Hurley, Winona Boutwell, Isabel Hill, Beale Carter, Evangeline Comeau, Margaret Kelley, Frances Dalton, Annie Swenson, Viola Cashman, Virginia Ramsdell, Helen Yunggebauer, Irene Curtis, Eleanor Hall, Alice Chase, Helen Ott, Jimena Walker and Malcolm Ruhl, Kenneth Palmer, Carl Wells, Joseph L. Monah, Thomas Stack, George MacCollum, Louis Soderberg, Arthur Fallon, Douglas Bacon, Walden Bassett, Carl Frederickson, J. Ashley Barnes, Russell A. Carter, Walter Saunders, Norman Buchanan, James Dyer, Henry Ott, Windsor B. Wade, Melvin Haynes, Samuel Battles, Selden Billington.

The committee in charge of the reception was Miss Viola Cashman, chairman; Miss Olive Mitchell, Miss Anna Greeley, John Fredrickson, Melvin Haynes and Thomas Stack.

Hearing Relative to Underground Wiring

A hearing on petition of the Lawrence Gas company relative to putting their electric wires on Main street underground was held at the Town house Wednesday evening. The meeting, which was presided over by Walter S. Donald, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, was attended by Leroy S. Colby of the Lawrence Gas Company, Thomas E. Rhodes and Edward Shattuck of the Board of Public Works, Henry A. Bodwell of the finance committee and about a dozen of the abutters affected by the proposed change in wiring.

Mr. Colby showed the plan indicating where the conduit for carrying the wires would be laid on Main street. Because of the laying of drains it will be necessary to lay it nearer the center of the street than at first planned, namely twenty-two feet from the westerly outside of the street or about nine feet outside the sidewalk.

In answer to inquiries he stated that the expense to abutters connecting with the underground service would be approximately one dollar a foot from the street bound to the point where the service enters the house with an additional charge of $10 for the service entrance switch called for by the insurance company. Where service enters at the second story additional work by an electrical contractor will be required. The conduits will be laid about three feet underground.

When questioned as to the practicability of having electric service wires and telephone wires enter the premises in the same conduit, he stated that it was entirely out of the question. The telephone wiring is lighter construction and the wires will be carried underground to poles located at the rear of Main street lots from which the service will be distributed to subscribers. There will be no expense to subscribers in connection with the necessary changing over of the telephone wires.

At the close of the hearing several of the residents on Main street asked the opportunity to ask the Board of Public Works what arrangements were going to be made for vehicles to enter and leave their premises while the new road was under construction and if their private driveways were to be blocked, whether or not they would have proper notice of the fact. Selectman Donald answered for the board that suitable arrangements would probably be made.

Good Sense in Control

It is a long time since any Andover town meeting, regular or special, handled business matters in a more business-like way than that of last Monday evening. There was a good deal of discussion, one matter taking an hour and a half, and yet all of the discussion was well tempered, formative, and resultant of wise action.

From the standpoint of those who are informed upon legislative procedure and the manner in which such problems as the extension of a local sewerage system are handled, undoubtedly more time was taken on the article covering that subject than was necessary, but from the standpoint of the appeal made by one of the speakers for such discussion as would let the general public know more about such things, it was mighty good to have free and full talk upon the many different points involved. The actual fact is that the only action that the town could take was to authorize the board of public works to obtain the Legislature to frame a law under which actual procedure in constructing a sewerage system extension could be carried on. There was nothing else involved. We might modify our petition or qualify it, but in presenting it to the Legislature the one thing necessary is to have it broad enough so that the judgment of the Legislature may have full play. It is not broad enough for that, then the legislation might either be denied altogether, or passed in a form that would qualify the work unwisely. The situation is now set forth so that we ought to be able to have a plan definitely made, given careful consideration by the State Board of Health, and reach the Legislature on the opening day next January, in condition for that body to give prompt attention to it.

The lighting committee presented an excellent plan for lighting Main street. The writer is not quite sure whether there are too many lights or not for that portion of the street from Chestnut street to Chapel avenue, but he is positive that much more light should be put there than is now on the street, entirely because we are bringing the center of the town of Andover into its proper relation to the other sections of the town by making it carry all the attributes of a "Main Street." It is going to be as good as one of the speakers said, the best Main Street in the United States, but the whole improvement will represent a new appeal to the public at large, entirely different from that which they have had over the bumpy way of the last few years. Returning to the lighting situation, those who knew what excellent work had been done by the lighting committee in their study of the problem, and in their dealing with the gas company, could not help feeling a bit of sympathy that their entire recommendation was not approved. But it could not be approved under the circumstances, and the Moderator ruled wisely and he could not entertain a motion for a long-term contract. We cannot believe that the gas company has a single thing to fear when the town's action is taken into full consideration. With a unanimous vote passed at a meeting which through small was remarkably representative, the town has gone on record as approving the plan of the lighting committee, and if this may have some slight modifications before a long time contract is entered into, we don't believe they will be such modifications as will in any way disturb the agreeable relations that have long existed between the Lawrence Gas Company and the town of Andover. We are mighty glad that the gas company has modified its demands and has shown a willingness to co-operate fully with the town in the job it is doing.

The other matters were of slight importance but again led to the question of why and how, with the result that there are one hundred more citizens of the town who are better informed on town matters today than there were before the special meeting was held.

Editorial Cinders

Some day there will be a session of the Legislature that will close without having put upon it the great American game of "passing the buck," such as is now entitled the "battle of the bunk throwers," for the benefit of a suffering public to the tune of a five cent fare on an eight cent cost; but when that time comes the millennium will be here and the Legislature won't count for more than a deal of their actions ought to be at the present time. If the State wants to discuss the question of public ownership and operation of the street car service, and the entire Commonwealth if need be, then let it do it under its proper title and without the decorations that are being put upon the present issue now before the Legislature by the yellow press of Boston. Of course when that time comes the same situation will be uncovered that has been brought out everywhere else; the tax payers will pay a liberal portion of the cost, and the rate fixed will be in perfect harmony with those effective suggestions contained in the Collier cartoon of Thursday morning. But let nobody fool himself that in the long run the consumer does not pay. More than that, the less the consumer appears to pay, the more he actually will pay, for the real reason why he does not appear to pay will be because he does not know enough about taxation to dodge the obligation to pay.

When we get that one hundred and sixty-five foot tower with its chimneys playing the beautiful story that chimneys alone can tell, Phillips Academy is to get a silent advertisement of no mean proportions. It will appeal not alone to those who hear the bells, but to the thousands and tens of thousands from one end of the country to the other who pass over the Main street.

"Pa's New Housekeeper" to be Repeated

The play, "Pa's New Housekeeper," recently presented with great success under the auspices of the Margaret Slattery class will be repeated by request next Tuesday evening at 8.00 o'clock in the Free church vestry. The cast of characters will be the same as before: Mollie Holbrook, Bertha Cuthill, Mattie Jackson, Minerva Ramsdell, Jimmie Jackson, Geoffrey Nicol, Jack Brown, George Haddon, "Pa" Jackson, Rev. A. S. Wheelock. The fun of the play centres around a mysterious personage by the name of Mrs. O. I. Pounce who is supposedly Pa's new housekeeper. Tickets will be on sale at the door. Proceeds of this performance will all go toward the new tennis court that is being built at the rear of the church.

Money Raised to Paint Guild House

More than $400 was realized at the rummage sale held last Saturday at the Guild house for the purpose of raising money to paint that building. In spite of the fact that there have been several such sales within the past few months the contributions were generous and success crowned the efforts of the efficient committee.

The members of the general committee were: Miss Mary L. Barnes, Miss Anna W. Kahn and Mrs. Andrew W. Lawrie. Those who had charge of the various tables were Mrs. George French, Mrs. John C. Angus, Mrs. W. Dacre Walker, Mrs. N. E. Bartlett, Miss Helen Eaton, Miss Margaret Curran and Mrs. John A. Burr.

Poll Tax Soon Due

Tax Collector William B. Cheever will send out poll tax bills next week. The following facts will be of interest to tax payers:

VETERANS OF THE CIVIL WAR
Pursuant to clause 23, Sec. 5, Chap. 59, General Laws such veterans of the Civil War as have requested to be exempted from poll taxes may be exempted from the whole poll tax of 1922 of $5.

VETERANS OF THE SPANISH WAR AND PHILIPPINE INSURRECTION
These must be assessed a poll tax of 1922 of $5.00. Pursuant to Chap. 608, Acts of 1920, they may apply in writing, within ninety days of the date of the tax bill for an abatement of $3.00 therefrom.

VETERANS OF THE WORLD WAR

By the provisions of Chapter 398, Acts of 1922 signed by his Excellency, the Governor, May 11, 1922, each such veteran must be assessed in 1922 and 1923 a poll tax of FIVE DOLLARS but the class which is given the right to apply within ninety days of the date of the tax bill for an abatement of THREE DOLLARS therefrom is broadened so as to include any person who is a resident of Massachusetts at the date of assessment and who was engaged in the military or naval service of the United States during the World War, if honorably discharged or still continuing in the service. The statute gives no right to apply for such abatement to residents of this state who served in the World War in the army or navy of any of our allies.

Mrs. Hayes Resigns as President of Auxiliary

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held in the Legion Rooms June 1, 1922.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Hayes. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved.

Miss Louisa Eaton, chairman of the Welfare committee, gave an interesting report of the work done by her committee. Baskets were sent to the boys at various hospitals for Mother's Day, May 14, and later a trip was made to Chelsea Naval Hospital where the local committee were met by the County Welfare officer who conducted them through the surgical wards where flowers and cigarettes were given to the boys as well as a cheery greeting.

The poppy selling was a great success. Thanks is due to every member who sold a poppy but special thanks goes to Mrs. Henderson, who, entirely unaided, sold $49.09 worth of poppies! Next year it is hoped to have two thousand poppies to sell and when every one in town realizes that the profit from the poppies goes to the relief and welfare work of the Legion the demand will be greater than the supply.

There is a store in Boston at the corner of Boylston and Berkeley streets called "The Disabled Service Men's Exchange" where every thing made by the soldiers is for sale, and it was voted to send $5 to help out the enterprise.

It was also voted to send $10 to the Belleau Wood Memorial Association which has been organized in Washington as a National movement to rebuild the village of Belleau, France, in honor of the boys. Shares are $1 each and it is hoped that more shares will be sold in Andover. All those who wish to have a part in the rebuilding of Belleau, should communicate with Mrs. Thaxter Eaton or Mrs. Fred G. Cheney.

It was with great regret that the resignation of Mrs. Bartlett H. Hayes as president of the auxiliary was accepted. She finds it necessary to relinquish the office because of the pressure of duties in connection with her work with the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Fred G. Cheney was chosen to fill the vacancy.

The treat of the evening was the singing of a group of songs by Miss Mabel Carter. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mary Judge, Mrs. Bartlett H. Hayes and Mrs. Thaxter Eaton.

Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Freeman Abbott and Mrs. Harold Gray are the entertainment committee for the next meeting.

Saturday, June 3, at two o'clock there will be an important meeting of the Essex County Council at Marblehead and Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Freeman Abbott and Mrs. Fred G. Cheney will attend as delegates from the Andover auxiliary. Mrs. Cheney will be glad to hear from any other members who may wish to attend.

Mission Circle to Hold Out-Door Meeting

The June meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle will be an out-door affair weather permitting, a basket meeting held with Mrs. Henry Jenkins, Ballardville road, at the old Stephen Abbott place, on June 8. The hour will be 3.00 p.m., as usual. As several letters from foreign missionaries are to be read, it is hoped that the day may be fine enabling a large number of ladies to attend.

Wedding

WARE—LEE

The marriage of Miss Susan Dove Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Lee and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George W. W. Dove, and Thornton K. Ware of Fitchburg took place Saturday afternoon in the first church, Brookline.

The bride wore a gown of cream white satin with a long court train, with touches of old family lace and carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies and orchids. The bridesmaids, Miss Elsie Nichols, Miss Nella Fiske, Miss Louise Fessenden and Mrs. John M. B. Churchill, wore dainty frocks of platinum gray chiffon and self-toned hats with sweeping ostrich feathers of the same color. Their bouquets were pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern. The maid of honor, Miss Alice Lee, 2d, was in a gown of the same soft coloring and hat of pink.

Mr. Lee gave his daughter in marriage and after the ceremony there was a reception at the Hammond street residence from 4:30 until 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware will live at 20 Hartwell street, Fitchburg.

When Giants Meet May the Better Man Win!

Just as there are exceptions to all rules, so there has been found an instance of Might being Right. But in this instance, had not Might triumphed, then an entertaining and instructive picture would have been deprived of its hero.

It happened this way: In the heart of Africa, hidden behind a massive range of mountains, stood the city of the Ophirites, and into the city of Ophir one day stumbled a great giant of a man, accompanying a lone white girl on her mission of locating the lost treasure of the Queen of Sheba.

According to the ancient custom, it was decreed that the girl should be offered as a sacrifice, while the man was to be placed in slavery. Attempting to escape from captivity, the man was turned over to the blacks of the city for their offering as a sacrifice to the gods.

This meant a cruel and revolting death, so determined to sell his life dearly, the man attacked the King of the Blacks, an ebony giant, and triumphed over him. To his amazement, he learned that he who could defeat the ruling King would himself be elected in his stead, and thus he found that his strength had both saved him and brought him power.

This epic event forms but one of the outstanding features in "The City of Gold," the third picture of Paramount's remarkable series of four pictures entitled, "The Mistress of the World." It will be presented at the Colonial Theatre for one day, Thursday, June 15. Miss May is the featured player.

Memorial Service for Sailors

The annual service for the sailor and marine dead was held Sunday afternoon at the bridge over the Shawheen river at Stevens street and was conducted by the auxiliary to Walter L. Raymond camp, S. of V. The parade formed at the square and headed by the Salvation Army band of Lawrence, T. A. Hooper, bandmaster, marched to the bridge, where special exercises included the strewing of flowers and wreaths on the waters by John Cummings, coar bearer of Gen. Wm. F. Bartlett post G.A.R., assisted by the school children and patriotic organizations.

Mrs. Frank Weymouth, patriotic instructor, had charge and was assisted by Miss Anna Kibbee and Mrs. Margaret MacCord. The Legion auxiliary, Mrs. B. H. Hayes president, took part, and Commander B. H. Hayes represented the Legion.

Rev. Arthur S. Wheeler gave the address and extolled the service rendered the country since its foundation by the sailors and marines. The order of services:

A deputy police commissioner of New York City believes that unless street traffic is to be allowed to choke itself to death, a deadline will have to be drawn in Manhattan at Fulton street, and automobiles forbidden to go south of the post office. He also recommends that horses be barred from the city after 1925 and that the Sixth avenue "L" road be turned into an automobile highway with motor bus service.

X. B. K. Minstrel Show

With a circle of ten men, four end-men that exuded pep at every pore, Rev. C. W. Henry as interlocutor, and a good line of jokes and songs, the Phillips Brooks Chapter Minstrels scored a howling success at the Christ Church last evening. The X. B. K. boys kept things moving rapidly throughout the show and introduced several new and amusing features, a tango and bone specialty act and a little incidental dancing.

Great credit should be given to Miss Marie McGrath, who, when the illness of Organist Brown forced him to relinquish the duties of pianist for the show, took up the work of rehearsal, and last evening aided greatly in the smoothness of the show with her accompaniments.

Many wonders about local people were revealed for the first time to the great amusement of the audience, chief among which was the interesting information that W. D. Yates was a singer of great note, at times performing nobly the part of "short-stop." The interlocutor discovered after much questioning that "short-stop" was somewhere between second and third base.

Following the show, the Andover-Lawrence orchestra played for dancing.

In addition to the leads featured on the program, the following ten men made up the chorus of the show: James Schofield, Reginald Whitcomb, Samuel Battles, Norman Buchanan, Sumner Davis, William Baxter, George McCollum, Seymour Collings, Leslie Monan and John Hansen. Fred Cole officiated as usher.

Wrong Weapon
Cornelius Vanderbilt objected at a dinner in New York to the American rule of politeness whereby men pull out and then push in ladies' chairs as the latter seat themselves at table.

"That," he said, "is carrying our table manners too ridiculously far. It reminds me of the Texas father."

"A Texas father was dining with his son in a Texas hotel, and in the course of dinner the son got into an argument with a cowboy. The cowboy called the son a very offensive name, and the young fellow grabbed a knife and started around the table to be avenged."

"But his father seized him by the coat-tails."

"Ain't ye got no table manners?" the old man hissed.

"But, pop, ye heered what he called me, didn't ye?"

"Yes, I heered all right, but that ain't no ground for yer forgettin' yer table manners. Put down that knife and go at him with yer fork."—New York Sun.

OBITUARIES

JOSEPH BYERS

Joseph Byers, one of the oldest residents of Newtonville, died May 30, in his eighty-ninth year. Born in Brechin, Scotland, on July 15, 1833, he was the son of James and Mary Smith Byers who came to Andover when he was three years old.

He finished his education at Phillips academy, Class of '53, and was at the time of his death one of the oldest surviving alumni. He lived in Andover until early manhood and was for a time employed in a book store.

Joseph Byers was the brother of John Byers, donor of Christ church, and superintended its building.

In 1873, he moved to Newtonville and was city assessor for twenty-one years, retiring in 1919.

He was vice president and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Stone Institute and Home for Aged People of Newton from the beginning of the Home in 1896, and spent much time and thought for its welfare.

He is survived by one son, John W. Byers of Newtonville, and a daughter, Mrs. Morton E. Cobb, of Newton Centre.

J. HENRY RICHARDSON

J. Henry Richardson, for many years one of the best known home men in New England, died Sunday morning at his home on Elm street at the age of seventy-two years.

Mr. Richardson was born in Methuen, September 23, 1849. As a young man he worked in one of the mills and later in a hat shop but he soon became interested in horses. For many years he owned large boarding and sales stables in Boston and Thorndale stock farm, his Andover property, has for the last twenty-seven years bred and boarded many famous horses.

A widow, Eliza M., and one son, George, of Pawtucket, R. I., survive the deceased. Funeral services conducted by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow were held Tuesday afternoon from the late home.

The bearers were P. J. Hannan, John Golden, William H. Higgins, Claude B. Miner, Thomas Keene, and Frank O'Brien. Interment was in Methuen.

CYRUS HENRY BROWN

Cyrus Henry Brown was the son of Cyrus W. and Elizabeth Stewart (Babcock) Brown, and was born in North Stonington, Conn., Nov. 24, 1829. He was educated in the schools of his native town, in private schools, and also took a preparatory course for teaching at the Connecticut Literary Institute at Soulefield. He taught for six years in the schools of Connecticut and Rhode Island and in 1856 he married Sarah Catherine Marston of Hopkinton. Soon after, he moved to Brighton, Mass., and followed the provision business in Boston and Brookline till 1889.

After the death of Mrs. Brown in 1897 Mr. Brown made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Geo. H. Utter of Westerly, R. I., where the funeral service took place on Sunday, May 21, conducted by the Rev. Lewis A. Walker of the Calvary Baptist church, of which Mr. Brown was a deacon and teacher for many years. The bearers were his grandsons, George B. Utter, Wilfred B. Utter of Westerly, R. I., Dr. Henry E. Utter of Providence, R. I., and his son-in-law, Chester D. Abbott of Andover.

The Heavenly Father sent for one of his chosen ones when the call came to Cyrus Henry Brown at sunset on the evening of Friday, May 19, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chester D. Abbott.

After an illness of a few days, the long life of more than ninety-two years closed—a life so well and grandly lived that he leaves a rare and precious memory.

His natural strength practically unabated, ruddy cheeks and ungrayed hair beaming with years, his alert faculties and keen interest in world happenings, his wide reading, and gifted pen, with his indefatigable use of it, made him nothing short of a marvel.

His experience as teacher, business man and farmer taught him many things and he did them all well.

Fortunate was the garden that had his care, and fortunate was the son or son-in-law whose table was furnished with the products of that garden. No weed might hope to flourish in his garden, the plants appeared above ground on the day that he said they would, and the cultivating was done by rule. We see him now as with hoe and cane, his two grandchildren revolving around him like satellites, he made his way to the "Upper Neighborhood garden" to give it its weekly care, or as with basket on his arm, he called to share the fruits of his toil with the families of the neighborhood—a man of over ninety years caring for three gardens!

Mr. Brown was an accurate and painstaking genealogist and took great interest in writing the history of the Babcock and Maine and the Brown families. One secret of his happy and useful life was that he was always busy about something worth while. His birthdays were made memorable and delightful by festivities which approached the two hundredth mark and these he acknowledged in his handwriting. His ninety-third birthday was spent in Andover, surrounded by his large and devoted family circle, and his ninety-second at the Mansfield Inn, a convenient meeting-place for the Rhode Island and Massachusetts relatives.

Mr. Brown's sense of humor, his gift at story-telling of the times of yore or of the present made him a most charming companion, and his loveliness as a good and true man made family and friends vie with each other to do him honor.

A prince and a great man has fallen in Israel, but his life is a benediction to all who were privileged to know him.

MARY ALICE ABBOT

Swans that ring a dinner bell when hungry are one of the sights of the town of Wells, Somerset, England. A flock of tame swans frequent the most surrounding the bishop's palace. When the birds are hungry they tug at a rope hanging from one of the windows. This rope rings a bell and food is then thrown from the window. The birds were taught to do this by a daughter of a bishop.

A five-room house has been turned over to the Carl Schurz school of Chicago, and the girls attending this school will know how to care for it from top to bottom. Mondays they will occupy the kitchen, learning how to cook. Tuesday is sewing day and Wednesday the house is to be scrubbed from cellar to attic. Thursdays they will wash clothes and from them and Fridays the girls will have a course in millinery.

Farmers Plan to Protect Themselves from Automobile Thieves

The Massachusetts Farm Bureau Federation is suggesting to the local units throughout the State that they get together in a systematic effort to curtail theft of fruit and vegetables by automobile parties this year. The plan has been tried out with success by the Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, Farm Bureau, with the co-operation of the state police; and now that we have an efficient state police force here, the plan is possible in Massachusetts.

The plan is that each community select certain farms at cross roads or other points where automobiles are passing freely as a telephone headquarters where complaints of thefts can be sent in and where communication with the police can be secured quickly. It is practically impossible for a busy farmer to protect all his crops himself, but if he drives someone off his land, he can easily telephone down the line for others to be on the watch. In cases where there has been an actual theft, the thieves can often be caught with the goods by quick neighborly action, combined with good work by the state police.

Something of this kind is greatly needed. One West Acton farmer reports that two years ago he lost some 200 bushels of apples. From another locality comes a story of an automobile driving under the trees and shaking the fruit down into the body of the car by means of a long handled rake. It does not take long to pick a tree that way.

Annual Outing at Great Meadow

A score of the members of the Andover Natural History society enjoyed the annual field meeting of the society held at Great Meadow. The number of those who enjoyed walking has been augmented by the addition of junior members several of whom took part in yesterday's outing.

Under the leadership of Nathan C. Hamblin the party on foot walked out Summer street and by way of Willow street and Chestnut street in North Andover to Great Meadow where they joined the rest of the party who had made the trip by auto. Forty specimens of wild flowers were gathered including some early blossoms of arbutus.

A basket lunch was enjoyed on the site of the old Stockade.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Omar P. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Fred G. Cheney, Mrs. Frank M. Foster, Mrs. Cecelia Derrah, Misses Clara A. Putman, Nell J. Butterfield, Priscilla Whittemore, Ruth Bodwell, Ruth Perry, Mary Angus, and Burton S. Flagg, Nathan C. Hamblin, Carl M. Gahan, Howard Harrington, George LeBouillier, Hiland Holt and William Foster.

Riding Lion

A big added attraction to the Walter L. Main circus, which will spend its acres of tents in Newburyport, Thursday, June 8, is Madam Aurora's Riding Lion, Duke, the only lion in the world that has been taught to ride a horse. Then there is a sensational feature in the assembling of a group comprised of two lions and a dog who sit around a table and eat a meal in perfect harmony. A lady trainer feeds these lions raw meat with her bare hands.

Added to the wild animal portion of the circus is a group of trained seals and sea lions, who not only prove adepts at feats of juggling, but play musical instruments as well, an old-fashioned barn-yard circus, in which trained pigs play an important part, riding dogs and monkeys, and three well trained bears whose antics are most mirthful. Trained elephants contribute astonishing stunts, and the half hour's program of animal acts is said to be one of the most pleasing features of the long circus performance.

Permits to Be Issued for Fishing in Haggett's Pond

The Board of Public Works will open Haggett's pond for fishing during June, July and August. Permits will be issued to residents of the town only by Frank L. Cole, superintendent of the board; subject to the same restrictions as last year. The board again invites the co-operation of the members of the Andover Fish and Game Club to assist in enforcing the rules and report any violations to the Board. The action was taken at a meeting of the Board Friday evening.

The Board also voted to purchase a Manograph water meter. A demonstration of this instrument was given recently and by it the water mains can be tested at any point and leakages discovered, which could not be found in any other way.

The Board voted to inspect the new sewer pump house at Shawheen Village installed by William M. Wood on June 6 and if found satisfactory, to formally accept it in behalf of the town.

At the close of the meeting the board went to the Haggett's Pond pumping station and viewed the grounds preparatory to making the improvements voted at the annual town meeting for which $800 were appropriated.

World's Greatest Amusement Institution
Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Headed This Way

Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Day draws near and with it will come a vast circus of "ten thousand wonders" to exhibit in Boston, the week of June 12.

The mammoth amusement enterprise of 1922 has been officially recorded as "America's ten times greatest circus." It is a third bigger than it was in 1921. For, in addition to the many innovations offered then the present season's program numbers ten more trained wild animal displays—making twenty in all—and the most superb trained horse acts that Europe has yet produced.

And while the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey agents were securing this and the trained tiger, polar bear, lion, leopard and jaguar groups, they had orders to engage the foremost men and women performers of the European capitals. And these stars from city and jungle are all to be seen with this wonder circus of 1922. Everything, including the great double menagerie of more than a thousand animals and exhibiting such rarities as a mite of a baby hippopotamus and its three-ton mother, is to be seen for the price of one admission ticket. And by "everything" is meant not only the wild animals and equine displays, but the entire circus. More than 700 men and women, embracing the world's foremost acrobats, stunts, take part. There are 100 clowns. Aside from the ferocious beasts, the program includes forty trained elephants. There are five companies of trained seals, many dogs, bears, monkeys, pigs and pigeons. It is the biggest circus program the world has ever seen, given under the largest tent.

He uto Look Seedy

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Brown!" exclaimed Mr. Smith. "What a coincidence, meeting you. I ran into your husband half an hour ago."

"How funny!" replied Mrs. Brown. "And how do you think he was looking?"

"Pretty poorly," replied Mr. Smith. "Well, I'm surprised to hear you say so. Everybody says he's looking much better lately."

"Well, he looked seedy enough just now," said Mr. Smith.

"Oh, I can tell you that," said Mrs. Brown. "You see, I was in my car when I ran into him."—N. Y. American.

Waukawan Camp Fire Plays

"A Pan of Fudge" and "A Lady to Call," two clever little one-act plays presented by the Waukawan Camp Fire girls under the direction of Miss Carle Bigelow, entertained a good sized audience at the South church vestry Tuesday evening and netted over $40, a part of which will be used for the work of Northland college.

The first play, "A Pan of Fudge" was the story of some school girls who had gathered in one of the girls' rooms to have a party. The fudge was nicely cooking when a teacher appeared and in their scramble the girls put the lighted chafing dish under a couch upon which the teacher sat. This led to the discovery of the rule-breaking but the teacher had a large heart and confessed that it was hard to be a spy for she had once been a student herself. The parts were all well taken and Miss Viola Cashman made an admirable Celeste Dupre with her French mannerisms, and Ruth Pritchard, Ruth May, Theresa Proctor, Pamela Proctor and Emma Daniels were typical college girls, each with a different characteristic.

"A Lady to Call," was the title of the other farce and this depicted the experiences of two maiden women in a small town. One of them was disgusted with the style put on by a distinguished new resident until an accident to an automobile resulted in her being a guest in their house where she was received with great hospitality. Just before leaving she invited them to call on her and they were much excited for a moment by the prospect of their entrance into grand society but the illusion was dispelled when the lady's card revealed that she was a snake charmer traveling with a circus.

Miss Virginia Ramsdell made an excellent prudish old maid who finally succumbed to the flattery of the distinguished visitor and Nettie Pritchard was a most obedient sister to the rather exacting Ann Bray. Miss Harriet Cheney acted the part of the grand lady and carried out the part well when she said that she would give the twosome something to talk about.

MACHINES NOW DIGGING COAL

Inventions Have Wrought Great Changes in the Methods of Bringing "Black Diamonds" to Surface.

With the rapid development of labor-saving methods, the coal miner, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine, is being transformed into a keen-eyed operator of a powerful machine which not only mines and loads the coal, but does it in a safer and more economical manner; after, because the coal is broken down without the use of explosives which tend to shatter the roof and make it dangerous; and more economical, because it produces more lump coal and fewer fines, and does it more rapidly.

One machine developed for this work consists of an undercutting frame with cutter chain and a shearing frame on each side of the machine. In the undercutting frame is a conveyor. There is provided a powerful ram which breaks down the coal onto the conveyor. This ram can be directed at any height of the coal face.

The machine is mounted in a pan and fed forward by means of a steel rope. When the cut has been made, the machine is pulled back in the pan by means of a rope; then this rope is hooked over a sheave on the forward side of the machine and the eye fastened to a jack at the face of the opposite rib. By this means the machine is pulled sideways the width of the cut. This requires about three minutes. The machine is then ready to take another cut.

The machine can be used in combination with a movable storage hopper provided with a loading conveyor. By this system the machine operates continuously during the time the loaded mine car is being removed and replaced by an empty one.

Make Remarkable Offer To Any Person In Andover Who is Weak, Sick, Nervous Or Run-Down.

It is Now Possible for You to Come to This Store, Buy a Regular $1.10 Package of Nuxated Iron for $1.00, Use it for Two Weeks, and If at the End of That Time You Have Not Received All, and Even Greater Benefits Than You Expect, Simply Bring the Wrapper Back to W. C. Crowley's, and He Will Cheerfully Hand You Back Your Money.

Andover people may well ask how we can afford to make this remarkable "Satisfaction or Money Back" offer. Medical examinations by physicians all over the country show that an amazing number of people lack 100% iron in their blood. At a recent conference, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Out Door Department), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said, "Without iron, the blood becomes weak, thin, pale and watery. In many people this seriously weakens their vital organs as to lead them to believe that they have heart or stomach trouble, kidney disease, nerve force exhaustion or some other serious ailment. I have had people come to me thinking they had heart trouble, because they often had pains and palpitation of the heart, sudden dizziness, faintness or spots before the eyes. In a great many of these cases, the moment iron was supplied, all of these symptoms disappeared." We make this offer because Genuine Nuxated Iron contains true organic iron like the iron in your blood. So many people are deficient in iron who would surely be benefited by this remarkable remedy, that we recommend that you come right to W. C. Crowley's and get your bottle of Nuxated Iron. Use it for two weeks, and note the improvement in your own case in strength, energy and endurance. If you are not more than surprised at the results, just bring back the wrapper and we will promptly refund your money without question.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES

Continuing he said in part: "A soldier does not do what he does on his own responsibility or of his own choice. He is under compulsion. He must do what he is told to do. He shoots because he is commanded to do so. He flies into the air and drops bombs on cities because orders were issued commanding him to do so. When he fires the torpedo that sinks a ship he does it because he is compelled to do so. He shoots because he is ordered to do so.

"Our American ideal is freedom and individual rights. The life of the soldier is the very opposite of our American ideal. The soldier has no individual right for he is subject constantly to the command to obey. From the time of his enlistment till the time of his discharge he must do what he is told to do. Strange indeed is it that an American as is the life of a soldier, when war comes Americans make the best soldiers in the world. They temporarily cast aside the rights of the individual to fight for the common good of humanity. They are not only willing to die for their country but willing to kill for their country.

"During all the criticism of Sherman in his march to the sea when he was laying waste the country through which he passed no one felt more keenly the dreadfulness of it all than Sherman himself, but he did it because he felt that it was absolutely necessary to demonstrate to the world that there was no solid, successful resistance to the Union as was at that time felt abroad with the result that aid to the confederacy in the way of munitions was being furnished on the false misconception of the strength of the South.

"Grant was called a butcher because of the great sacrifice of life in the warfare before Richmond, but he saw that it had to be, that it was really mercy in disguise for the only way to end the war was to get to the enemy and defeat it, which he did.

"At the same time Lincoln with his bleeding heart told the country why it had to be, that it was because of a vow that was registered in Heaven. 'I took oath,' he said, 'to protect and preserve this country and this country must be kept intact."

"A witty Hindu once said, that although the Christians follow the Prince of Peace they do more fighting and more killing than the Mohammedans. It is no disgrace that the best warriors in the world are Christians."

"Wars are awful necessities to bring on times of peace when there shall be no more wars. And here I want to say that if wars are necessary to ensure peace the volunteer system is not adequate. It was an interesting phenomenon during the last Great War that there was none of the old feeling of shame in regard to conscription and drafting. The whole country came to see that the volunteer system would not be adequate. I hope the day of the volunteer system is over. I hope the country will see its solemn obligation and conscript not only its fighting men but all the forces required to supply its fighting men."

Rev. Mr. Bigelow pointed out that the carpenters and plumbers who were working at Camp Devens while the soldiers were training there, were paid $10 a day, while the soldiers were paid $1 a day, and he declared that he could sympathize with the sense of injustice that was rankling in the breasts of the ex-service men.

"It is a big business to be a soldier," said the speaker, "and justifiable business to be a destroyer under certain extraordinary conditions of life, but it is our business to Christianize soldiering."

"The area of destruction should be reduced to the lowest possible point. Fighting should be limited to the fighting forces and not directed against non-combatants."

"Germany's plan to make war so terrible and so awful that everybody would be afraid of Germany is not recognized tactics of civilized nations. We want our soldiers to be as merciful as possible, to kill only when it is absolutely necessary to kill, only when women and children, to cause no suffering when it is unnecessary."

"When Lincoln was beseeched by the mother of boys who had been condemned to death because of being caught asleep at the post of duty and was advised by his secretary of war that it was necessary as a matter of discipline, Lincoln declared it was not necessary and saved the lives of the boys. Lincoln was a Christian soldier."

The soldier's duty is not all done by carrying out his destroying power, not all done when he accomplishes destruction; he must also be a redeemer, he must do all he can to redeem.

"When Grant had the whole southern force under his hand, when he could have crushed it and even annihilated it, he allowed Lee and his officers to keep their swords and told Lee that his men could take their horses, for they would need them to do their plowing with. These things the soldiers did, not only the things of horror, but the kindly deed, the uplifting things of life."

At the close of the service the congregation remained standing while the organizations passed out.

Memorial Day Exercises

The fairest of New England weather smiled on the boys of '61, members of Gen. William F. Bartlett post G. A. R., as they carried out on Tuesday, General Logan's orders for the observance of Memorial day.

The ceremonies of the day began with the decoration of the tablet to the Civil war dead in Memorial hall and the shield at the entrance to the hall in honor of those who fell in the World War. The exercises were carried on simultaneously by the veterans of Gen. William F. Bartlett post, G. A. R., and members of Andover post 8, American Legion. At the conclusion of this rite these organizations together with the Sons of Veterans and headed by a platoon of police and Foss Military band proceeded to the Town hall where the usual exercises were held.

An impressive number on the program was the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by E. Kendall Jenkins who is now in his ninety-first year. Several songs were sung by the school children and a solo was rendered by Arthur W. Bassett.

The orator of the day was Harlan P. Knight of Somerville, one of the leading Pythians in the state of Massachusetts. He spoke of the deep significance of Memorial day when time is set apart for paying reverence to our living heroes as well as for visiting the city of the dead, thus refreshing our patriotism as we are reminded of the sacrifices made for the flag and our duty to the country for which it stands.

He spoke feelingly of the boys of '61, the flower of the country, who went forth to free a race which blesses them and to preserve a union which will endure forever, a service which will be remembered to the end of time.

When our southern neighbors were crushed by Spanish tyranny our soldiers espoused their cause, not counting the sacrifice. He alluded to the tragedy of the battleship Maine and its 250 men who lie in Arlington cemetery.

A tribute was also paid to the veterans of the World War who fought for the preservation of civilization itself.

In concluding he eulogized Abraham Lincoln, that strongest and most pathetic figure in American history.

LIBRARIAN MADE GOOD GUES.

Mythified as First, He Finally Realized Just What Volume the Lady Was Looking For.

The recent death of John Kendrick Bangs has recalled an incident that happened recently in one of the branch libraries. A woman entered one evening just before closing time and after wandering aimlessly about without finding anything that seemed to please her, finally came to the desk to consult the librarian concerning her need. She said that a friend of hers had recommended a book as being especially good, and would the librarian please tell her where it was kept. The name of the book, she said, was "The House Built on the Rocks."

The librarian looked puzzled. Visions of certain Biblical references to houses built on the sands came to mind, but this one was unfamiliar to her, so she set about questioning the woman to find out more about it. No, the woman didn't know what it was about, but she did remember the author's name, Bangs. Immediately there came an illuminating idea, and the librarian went to the shelf and took down Bangs' "Houseboat on the Stars," and sent a satisfied patron home to enjoy her newly found treasure.—Indianapolis News.

ODD PLEAS MADE TO JUDGE

Defendants in Berlin Court Evidently Were Not of the Ordinary Type of Malefactors.

A strange request has been made in a Berlin court by a blacksmith, Paul Walter, who has been passing himself off in Berlin as Prince Pleas. He and four friends were on trial for burglary and the blacksmith demanded:

"I request that I be condemned to death; if not, then send me to prison for life, so that I shall be rendered harmless to society."

When the surprised judge said he could not grant such a request Walter said:

"Well then, put me under police supervision for 20 years and I think you will see I won't do anything wrong again, but will reform myself. If I don't, then sentence me to death next time."

The judge sentenced him to prison for 18 months and passed sentences varying from three months to two and a half years on the others. All the prisoners then thanked the judge, and the blacksmith added that he and his friends gladly accepted the sentence.—New York Tribune.

Best Way to Warm His Hands.

During a severe winter, a science lecturer was delivering an address to a very small audience.

Presently a shabbily dressed man entered the hall. It was apparent that the man appreciated the lecturer's remarks, for he had not been listening many minutes before he began to applaud vigorously.

His enthusiasm stimulated the rest of the audience, and from that moment the applause grew frequent and unanimous, and the remainder of the lecture passed off splendidly.

The lecturer, feeling grateful to his apparently enthusiastic listener, accosted him as he was leaving, and exclaimed, heartily: "I was delighted to notice that you appreciated my remarks."

"Appreciated nothing!" said the man. "I didn't even know what you was talkin' about. I seed the lecture was free, an', as it was cold outside, I came in. I was clappin' to warm myself!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Setting" Colors.

All colors cannot be set by the same method. Salt, for instance, is extremely effective in setting blues, pinks and some reds. A large tablespoonful is required to a gallon of lukewarm water. Black cottons or black-and-white checks need stronger salt water to be effective, and sometimes a little turpentine may be added to the water. Soak the materials in lukewarm water. Soak browns, deep yellows and tans in a solution of one cupful of vinegar to a gallon of lukewarm water to set the color. When the lighter shades of yellows and tans become faded, the color can be restored by adding strong coffee to warm rinsing water.—From the Designer.

Car Needed It Most.

The little librarian sat at her desk surveying the row of solemn-eyed Italians before her. Tony had brought all his little brothers and sisters to see the "teacher." "My goodness," she said, "how many of you are there altogether?" "Eleven," said Tony, and the entire row grinned broadly, exhibiting beautiful pearly teeth. "What beautiful teeth! I suppose you all brush them well every night?" A nervous shuffling. Tony cleared his throat. "Well," he said earnestly, "we did have a brush once, but father needed it to clean something in the car and after that it wasn't much good."—Chicago Journal.

A Curle of Radium.

Mrs. Curle's modest autobiography omits mention of one single honor that more than anything else will help make her name immortal. The official scientific designation of the unit of radioactivity is named in her honor the "curie," and the degree of radioactivity is expressed in millicuries, centicuries and so on up the metric system scale. In selecting Mrs. Curle's name scientific bodies have followed the well-established custom that accounts for the introduction of such words as ohm, watt, ampere, etc., into our language—all of them the names of inventors or discoverers.—Delineator.

PROGRESS MADE IN AVIATION

Records Show That the United States is More Than Holding Its Own in Aerial Travel.

During the year 1921 the use of aircraft for civilian transportation increased 20 per cent over the previous year, according to a report forwarded to the Department of Commerce by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America.

The reports shows that throughout the country 1,200 civilian airplanes were in operation during the year, and they carried approximately 275,000 passengers a total distance of 6,500,000 miles. These figures, according to the report, are based upon authenticated returns received by the aeronautical chamber from all sections of the country "and tend to prove that America is holding her own in the air, as far as individual effort and accomplishment are concerned."

Every phase of aviation is covered in the report, including the various records made during the year. Among the outstanding civilian achievements is that of the aerial mail, which "in 1921 made such a record for efficiency on the transcontinental route that it is recognized as a model for civilian aerial transport the world over," the report says. "Letters have been delivered in New York two days after casual mailing on the Pacific coast," it continues. "The service has an average of 58.82 per cent efficiency, that is, in completed trips on scheduled time since it was started in May, 1918. "The air mail has during the last year completed its wireless communication system, the 14 stations now having radio plants, three operated by the navy department and the others by the air mail service."

LAND ADAPTED FOR REINDEER

Northern Canada, It is Estimated, Could Support Enormous Herds of Good Food Cattle.

Canada is a roomy land, and its back region can never be used for agricultural purposes and where neither sheep nor cattle can be raised profitably, comprises about 1,500,000 square miles. If we may accept as fairly accurate the statement of Alaska reindeer men that a reindeer requires about 30 acres for grazing in the sub-Arctic and Arctic regions of North America, then Northern Canada can support between 50,000,000 and 40,000,000 animals.

Viljalmar Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, who has been trying to convert his countrymen to reindeer culture for several years and has given the subject a great deal of study, thinks that the Canadian mainland, north of the so-called habitable line, and the great Canadian archipelago can support 50,000,000 reindeer and musk-oxen, another sub-Arctic animal which he thinks may in the near future furnish the world with an appreciable supply of good, wholesome meat.—John G. Line in Leslie's Weekly.

Mirror in Man's Hat.

A man can manage somehow to get along without a powder rag, but there are occasions when he does need a mirror and a comb for emergency use. To meet this demand, Gustav Posenack, of Trenton, N. J., has contrived a holder for both articles which may be conveniently fastened inside of a hat. It is sewn in, being made of cloth, a rectangular piece of which is attached to the inside of the hat by snap fasteners at the corners. This makes the back of the holder; the front is provided by a second piece, of like size secured to the first one by stitching. The two thus form a pocket. A horizontal line of stitching divides the pocket into two compartments: an upper one to receive the mirror and a lower one to hold the comb. One end of the pocket is left open to permit insertion of comb and glass. A slidable catch engaging the end teeth of the comb retains it in place and the safety of the mirror is obtained by a flap which snap fastens over it.

Woman in Finland.

Woman in Finland enjoys almost equal rights with the man. In school she has, in the common instruction with the male youth, opportunity to contend with them and to acquire the same knowledge. After completing the school education almost all vocations are open to her, and she is found in all branches of industry, but especially in business houses, in public offices and similar institutions. She cannot occupy the office of minister, however, and some high appointive posts. Practically, woman is the equal of man. She has the right of suffrage and she herself is eligible to all elective offices. The Finnish diet actually counts 20 female deputies among its members.—New York Tribune.

Ambassadors of the Air.

For some time France has had a new diplomatic function, that of ambassador of the air. And for that delicate function, for which not every one is fit, a woman, Mlle. Adrienne Bolland, has been nominated. This intrepid aviatrix was the first, it will be remembered, who flew over the Cordilleras of the Andes. This feat made her famous in South America. This renown led to the French government to accredit Mlle. Bolland to the Republic of Argentina, where she will represent France in all matters concerning aviation. Mlle. Bolland has left for Buenos Ayres, equipped with all diplomatic powers.—New York Tribune.

PRIZE FOR BRITISH MUSEUM

Institute Presented by Sir Rider Haggard With Ring Taken From Peruvian Mummy.

A ring with a romantic history has recently been presented to the British museum by Sir Rider Haggard. He first saw it 57 years ago, attached to the watch chain of the headmaster of his preparatory school, who had received it from a friend who had traveled much in America. The friend's story was that while traveling in Peru he had opened a gravestone in which he found a stone table with 18 mummified figures seated round it. On the finger of the principal figure was this ring, which the discoverer withdrew; and the bodies, according to his story, crumbled into dust.

It was the legend attached to this ring which, according to Sir Rider Haggard, first turned his imagination toward the invention of stories of adventure; and readers of "King Solomon's Mines" will recognize in it the origin of a striking episode in that book. Fifty-five years after he first saw the ring it still remained vividly in Sir Rider Haggard's memory, and he described its appearance in a story which is now on the eve of publication. Shortly after he had done so, he chanced to renew acquaintance with his former schoolmaster's family, and made inquiries about the ring, of which he eventually became the possessor, and he has now given it to the British museum.

FISH THAT SWALLOW STONES

Antarctic Seals and a Certain Species of Whale Need Them to Aid in Digestion.

Stones are commonly found in the stomach of the crab-eating seal of the Antarctic seas; and it is believed they, with a certain amount of grit, are scooped up with the crustaceans from the bottom of the sea. The emperor penguin, on the other hand, shows an instinctive craving for stones for gizzard-grinding purposes, and these stones must be assiduously sought, since these birds never rest upon dry land, but only upon ice.

Another unexpected name in this list of stone-swallowers is that of the Lesser Rorqual. This is a "balloon" whale, feeding upon minute crustaceans, and fish. From the peculiar method of feeding which, so to speak, forced upon this animal, it is unlikely that any portion of its food is scooped up from the sea-floor; hence the pebbles found in its stomach must be deliberately swallowed, and it is supposed, for the purpose of digestion, or, rather, of trituration. They are hardly likely to be derived from the fish which are engulfed, for these are mostly herring.

Spider Outdoors by Man.

Romance in business? Of course there is. As soon as we think of foreign trade we get the glamour and thrill of it; and to Joseph Pennell's eyes a giant crane or a viaduct or a steel mill is a picture. But who of us ever thought of romance in connection with wire rope?

John Kimberly Mumford has not taken wire for granted. In "Outspinning the Spider," he has told the story of an amazing industry in a fashion to rival the fictionist. Let a single passage speak:

"Seven one-thousandths, three one-thousandths, one one-thousandth—one record after another was passed. "At last a wire was drawn that measured one four-thousandths of an inch in diameter—twelve times finer than the hair on your head."

The spider, so long counted a master workman, had been outdone.—Nation's Business.

And Now the "Finale-Hopper."

That section of Manhattan called the Acropolis of America, extending from Riverside drive to Morningside park, has a new designation for ultra-modern girls—"finale-hoppers." They are the young women who are a year ahead of the present, or think they are doing now what the rest of their sex will be doing at some time in the future, Raymond G. Carroll writes in the Philadelphia Ledger.

A finale-hopper is never in style. She is a trail blazer, a pathfinder. She anticipates style. As soon as what she is doing is taken up and adopted by the crowd she drops it and turns to something else that is absolutely new. That applies to music, art, dancing, dress and even slang. She is ever on the still hunt for anything fresh that has never before been done or known.

Electrical Rubbing.

A motor-operated rubbing machine for wood surface finishing has been developed by an American concern. The device is operated by a fractional horse-power motor, which moves the rubbing blocks to ether and apart at an even speed. The speed is governed by a regulator which can be varied according to the class of work to be done. The machine is inclosed in a dust-proof aluminum case and weighs about thirty-five pounds, and, while this weight gives sufficient pressure for ordinary purposes, additional pressure can be applied by the operator if it is desired. The device is used for rubbing surfaces 15 inches in length and of practically any width.

He Wants to Know.

"Boss, just a word," said the bar-keep turned soda dispenser. "There's some things about this fountain business I don't understand." "Nice work, Sam. Don't you like the job? Lots of pret'y girls." "That's the point. Don't the house ever treat?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"The chaplain laid his hand on the man's shoulder. 'In every man,' he said, 'there is something good if you can but find it. How came you to take such a fancy to the rat?'"

"It bit the warden, sir," the convict replied.

A Little Out of the Way—But It Pays to Walk

THE PROBLEM ON THE HIGHWAY

By Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles

One of the greatest factors in the rapid development of a country is its transportation. The railroad long ago saved the plains of our great West from becoming a Siberia, fertile but remote, and made of New England a great industrial section, though it had to go hundreds of miles to obtain its raw materials.

The great new factor in transportation of the world today is the motor vehicle. We have 80% of the automobiles of the world, I believe. At any rate, we have 80% of the new problems that have come incidental to the rapid increase of automobiles upon our highways.

Already this year we have 40,500 more pleasure vehicles registered in Massachusetts than we had at the same time last year, and 7,000 more trucks. The prosperity of our state is in a measure marked by this increase—but we pay a price for it. The price last year was 544 dead and 11,487 injured. Must we pay as heavy a price again this year? Not if we will get together in the matter.

There are certain facts that each city should know as a basis for developing its own safety campaign. It ought to have definite information as to how the 544 fatal accidents of last year were grouped.

Greater Boston had 88 of them, 33 in the city itself, and the balance as follows: Roxbury, 17; Dorchester, 14; Charlestown, 6; South Boston, 5; East Boston and Jamaica Plain, 4; Allston and Brighton, 2 each; Mattapan, 1. For every fatal accident there were at least 20 in which the injuries were not so serious.

Other cities with serious traffic problems as measured by their fatalities were: Worcester 24; Springfield 23, Cambridge and Lowell 18; Lawrence 14; Fall River 13; Lynn 12; Chelsea 10; Brockton, Brookline and Chelsea 9; Haverhill 8; Peabody and Taunton 7; Malden, Andover and Plymouth 6; Chicopee, Everett, Fitchburg, Holyoke, Milton, New Bedford, Newton, Norwood, Sudbury, Westfield 5; Danvers, Saugus, Waltham 4.

That was the record last year. The situation for the present year to date may be summed up as follows:

There is a net reduction in fatal accidents so far, but an increase in injuries not fatal during the past month. The larger number of accidents are occurring in thickly settled sections of cities and towns. Children and elderly people are the most frequent victims.

This latter fact is of great importance if we are to get anywhere in our local safety campaigns. No operator of an automobile should approach a child or an elderly person without remembering this fact, that these are the persons in whose behalf he must exert more than ordinary care. The law holds him morally responsible when he runs a child down, even though the irresponsibility of the latter really caused the accident. He must always slow down when the child or the elderly person is near the path of his car, and merely sounding a warning is not an excuse if an accident occurs.

On the other hand, the parents of young children are equally culpable when they permit them to play in streets where traffic is heavy, or send them on errands without giving them proper instruction as to how to cross a highway.

"Too much speed for existing conditions" is the report made day after day as our state inspectors send in their record of current accidents. It is the one outstanding fact, and until we can correct it, I do not know how we are to check the growing volume of accidents. Personally I believe that the time has come to take drastic action when an automobilist is brought into court charged with speeding, or not slowing down when approaching an intersecting street. Imposing a fine is not always sufficient. If he is a persistent violator, he must be taken from the highway by the suspension of his license.

There is enough law on the statute books of Massachusetts to make the highways safe. It is all a question of enforcement. If operators are made to understand that a severe penalty will be meted out to them when they operate an automobile under the influence of liquor, or recklessly, or even carelessly, then and only then will the death rate fall.

If every man who operates an automobile would bring his car under absolute control when passing an intersecting street, or when approaching pedestrians either on the highway or on the sidewalk adjacent thereto, it is safe to say that more than one-half the number of pedestrians and children heretofore killed on the highways of this Commonwealth will be saved each year. It is not asking too much that an operator should do that, because in the final analysis the most he can lose is a second of his time, and he is waging that second against a human life.

OBSERVE EQUALITY IN RINGS

Up-to-Date Custom is for Bride to Equip Man of Her Choice With Wedding Symbol.

Custom has decreed that when a man receives from the woman he loves a promise that she will be his wife, he should forthwith buy her a ring. It is an excellent custom, according to the jeweler.

Most ancient and modern lovers have observed it, but modern lovers are going one better. Instead of one ring, two are bought, and they are not both for the lady. Jack and Jill together wear the sign of their engagement.

Equality of sex in voting and in the eyes of the law is responsible for this new idea, according to the Louisville Courier-Journal. For, mark you, two pockets bear the strain. No modern, self-respecting Jill would allow her Jack to cater for his own finger.

And when the plain gold circlet follows, again ring equality is carried out. It is no new custom for men to wear wedding rings. They have done so for ages. But it is a new idea that they should not have to pay for them. The up-to-date bride insists on doing her share, and buys the ring for her groom, while he purchases the sign of her new estate.

FEW MAPS ARE TRUTHFUL

In Fact, Only Those on Globes Are Able Accurately to Portray Extensive Areas.

Do you know what a map is? It sounds like a foolish question. You will probably contend that every schoolboy knows. If pressed for a definition you will probably say "a map is a drawing which exactly represents a portion of the earth's surface, the distances between the points upon the map being proportionate to distance between the points upon the earth represented" or some similar explanation.

But this is only partly true, writes C. H. Claudy in the Scientific American. There is only one kind of map in existence which will truthfully fit such a definition, and that is a map made upon a globe. No flat map, large or small, "exactly represents" any portion of the earth's surface, and only on a globe are the distances between all points truly proportional to distances between points on the earth represented.

In other words all flat maps are distorted. All flat maps tell only a part of the truth. All flat maps to some extent misrepresent the facts.

This is not due to any lack of moral sense on the part of map makers. They can't help it. The nature of a globe is such that there is no process by which its surface can be flattened out without tearing, stretching, cutting or compressing. And the earth is a globe (slightly flattened at the poles).

TOWER HILL STARS WIN

Weak Pitching Brings Bad Defeat to Shawsheen Juniors in Game on Local Field Saturday

The Shawsheen Juniors met the Tower Hill Stars from Lawrence, Saturday on Balmoral Field and the latter won over the former 15-6.

The Juniors team as a whole was good but the pitching was weak. Morrissey was replaced by Heavy at the beginning of the third inning but the difference in the brand of pitching wasn't noticeable.

The line-up of the Shawsheen Juniors was as follows:

Wm. Morrissey, p.
C. Frederickson, 1b.
J. Sirois, 2b.
R. Heavy, 3b.
Laddy Lamont, ss.
J. Ruxton, c.
W. Hollinghurst, rf.
Harvey, lf.

The Juniors are not downhearted over the loss and hope to meet the Tower Hill Stars in the season and believe they will trim them.

Unfortunately one of the victorious ones met with an accident on the journey home. Arthur Simpson, right fielder, attempting to board a truck was hit by an electric car going toward Andover. He was rushed to the General Hospital where it was found that he had broken his leg.

Collision at Centre

A Dodge touring car and a Chevrolet touring car collided at the junction of North Main and Lowell streets on Tuesday afternoon about 3.30.

Both machines were travelling at about fifteen miles an hour and neither was damaged to any great extent. The Dodge car making the turn toward Andover from Lowell street, side-swiped the other machine and the mud guards on both of them were badly bent.

After straightening them out as best they could both machines drove off. No one was injured.

Hears Concert in Bed.

It's acme of comfort and convenience in the hearing of wireless concerts has been achieved by Ronald Gurd, an amateur operator of London, Ont. By using a little originality he is now able to lie and listen to the reproduction in his own room of music played several hundred miles away. Bed springs solved the problem for Mr. Gurd, who realized that the supports of his mattress made excellent terminal connections. He capitalised on his knowledge by eliminating the outdoor aerial wires over his home. One end of the springs is grounded and the other end is used for the attachment of the receiving instrument and an amplifier.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
XXX—WISCONSIN

THE many cities in Wisconsin with French names show the French influence in its early settlement. The first white man to penetrate this region was Jean Nicolet, who was sent out in 1634 by Champlain to open trade with the Indians. He landed at Green Bay and probably traversed the country to Chicago. Fur traders and missionaries followed and the latter built a mission where Ashland now stands. This was the first church erected in the state and around it sprang up the first permanent settlement. Joliet and Father Marquette descended the Wisconsin river, and La Salle explored a great deal of Wisconsin before he took his famous trip down the Mississippi. Among the fur traders to come to Wisconsin shores was Daniel du Lhut, after whom the city of Duluth, Minn., was named.

During the Revolution Wisconsin remained loyal to the British and though Wisconsin became a part of the United States by the Treaty of Paris in 1783, it was not until 1816 that federal troops really established authority there. Indian uprisings continued for some time ending only with the Black Hawk war in 1832. Then followed extensive immigration from the New England States.

Wisconsin had formed a part of the Northwest territory until 1800, when it became a part of Michigan territory, under which jurisdiction it remained until 1836, with the exception of nine years, when it was considered a part of Illinois territory. With the admission of Michigan as a state, the Wisconsin territory was created, which included also the present states of Iowa and Minnesota and portions of North and South Dakota.

In 1848 Wisconsin was taken into the Union as the thirtieth state. Its area is 52,006 square miles and it has thirteen electoral votes for president. The state is named after the Wisconsin river. This is an Ojibwa phrase which means "gathering waters." It is sometimes called the Badger State. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Friday night he told of the general care and preservation of the hair and by charts described its anatomy. He also spoke of the construction and life of the hair, the hair cells and structure.

He gave a demonstration of the care of woman's hair and the women who attended were amply repaid. A forum was held at the close and Dr. Meritt answered questions on specific cases. He is a manufacturer as well as a specialist and his preparations have a wide use.

FIRST BOWLING MATCH

Vice Presidents Win Match from President at opening of Bowling Green Last Saturday

The official opening of the Bowling Green took place on Saturday at 2 P.M., when George M. Wallace rolled the first ball in the match between the president and vice president teams.

A large number of fans gathered to watch the match as much interest is being displayed in the doings of the club and a successful season is looked forward to. The game was exciting and held the interest of the spectators all the way through.

The vice presidents' team represented by D. Clark, J. Gordon, D. Robb and F. Jamison had an easy win over the presidents' team. Gordon and Clark were in excellent form as shown by their bowling, and although W. McKenzie and R. Williams played very well the former outclassed them.

Robert Williams' playing was appreciated by every one.

Several of the players were new at the game but played with consistency and showed good judgment.

Saturday's match would seem to point to a very successful and interesting season and to prove that the game has come to stay. The summary:

No. 1	No. 1
B. Babb	D. Clark
W. Gordon	J. Gordon
